New Mexico State Parks Free on Sunday Honoring Veterans

SANTA FE, NM - New Mexico State Parks will honor all veterans and active-duty members of the U.S. Military, military reserve and National Guard with free admission to any of the state's 34 state parks on Sunday, November 11th for Veterans Day.

"We're proud to offer free day-use admission to state parks in honor of Veterans Day to thank our veterans and military members," said State Parks Director Christy Tafoya.

"We hope service members can enjoy a free day at their state parks with friends and family." To get free park day-use admission, service members must present proof of military service at the park. The free entry extends to everybody in the same vehicle as the service member.
